SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
MADISON, July 23.—The Republican State Convention was called to order at ten o'clock this morning by Hon. Horace Rublee, Chairman of the State Central Committee. He delivered a fitting address, briefly stating the work to be done, and urging that all personal animosity and local contentions be thrown aside, and that the party unite as one man for the election of the ticket to be nominated. He reviewed the history of the party, the work it had accomplished in banishing human slavery from the land; in establishing universal suffrage; in abolishing the "gold room," in making resumption a brilliant success; and in forever settling the values of our currency. He took occasion to decline a re-election as Chairman of the State Central Committee, taking occasion to say that he was first elected in 1859, and served continuously for ten years, and was re-elected two years ago against his express wishes. His address was frequently interrupted by the most hearty applause.

The scene in the Assembly Chamber during the delivery of the address of Mr.
Rublee was of the most inspiring character. The chamber was densely packed, and every available seat and place for standing both in the lobbies and the gallery, were occupied, while the corridors were filled with persons who could not be admitted to the chamber.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rublee's address, E. L. Sanderson, of Milwaukee, moved that David Atwood, of Madison, be temporary chairman of the Convention.
"Hod" Taylor, of St. Croix, moved to amend by nominating Judge Price, of Jackson county. Taylor's motion was defeated and General Atwood was declared elected.

Jonathan Bowman, of Sauk, moved that a committee on credentials be appointed, one for the State at large, and one for each congressional district.

J. F. Ciegorn, of Rock, moved that a committee on permanent organization be appointed, consisting of one member for the State at large, and one from each congressional district, which prevailed.

On motion of "Hod" Taylor, a committee was constituted to present the name of a member of the State Central Committee.
A committee was also provided for to report a platform.

The Committee on Credentials was reported as follows, and was adopted by the Convention:

Jonathan Bowman—State at large.
Eph. Beaumont, of Waushara.
Philip Cheek, of Juneau.
J. W. Roney, of Iowa.
C. C. Chapin, of Milwaukee.
E. Metcalf, of Dodge.
A. M. Kimball, of Brown.
J. M. Rusk, of Vernon.
R. J. Flint, of Dane.
On resolutions—E. L. Downes, of Waupca, State at large.
M. T. Park, of Walworth.
J. W. Ostrander, of Jefferson.
O. B. Thomas, of Crawford.
George W. Allen, of Milwaukee.
A. A. Loper, of Fond du Lac.
W. H. H. Stowell, of Outagamie.
H. A. Taylor, of St. Croix.
John Turner, of Juneau.
On Chairman of State Committee—H. A.
Taylor, of St. Croix, State at large.
J. V. Quarles, of Kenosha.
W. Jacobs, of Dane.
James Bintliff, of LaFayette.
E. L. Sanderson, of Milwaukee.
G. W. Carter, of Fond du Lac.
H. S. Sackett, of Green Lake.
W. T. Price, of Jackson.
M. H. McCord, of Lincoln.

committee on permanent organization has not been received. The member however,

THE FEVER.

The Increase at Memphis—Its Appearance at Louisville Ky., and Hoboken, New Jersey.

MEMPHIS, July 23.—Five new cases were reported to the Board of Health this morning. Among this number is Mrs.
Powers, who resides at 374 Shelby street, where Mulbrandon's shoe shop is located.
Four deaths have occurred since last night—Thomas Kernan, Harry Ray, Louis Brumond, and Morris Hamer.

The two colored military companies, the McClellan Guards and the Memphis Zou-aves, have volunteered their services to protect the property of the city if a necessity arises.

The city authorities will doubtless select a site to-day where a camp will be established, to which the poor of the city will be removed.

MEMPHIS, July 23.—Two more cases were reported to the Board of Health this afternoon, both of whom are colored.
Two additional deaths have also occurred.
—Job Thompson and Patrick Meuth.

NEW YORK, July 23.—There was much excitement in Hoboken to-day, on the discovery of a case of yellow fever.

LOUISVILLE, July 23.—The health officer discovered two cases of fever in this city this afternoon, both of which were brought from Memphis.

THE STORM.

Further Details of Disasters of the Late Storm in Europe.

LONDON, July 23.—Further reports from various parts of England show that all the disasters from the storm which is now devastating the country have not yet been reported. At Ipswich the roads are flooded to the greatest depth ever recorded.

At Halesworth there are four feet of water in the streets, and the shops are submerged, the people being conveyed across in carts.

At Fawlingham a great flood prevails; in fact such a one has not been known for the last fifty years. The river banks and many acres of grass submerged. Large quantities of hay have been swept away.

All railway traffic between Ipswich and Yarmouth have been stopped by the floods, two bridges having been carried away by the torrent.

Heavy rain has fallen at Berwick-on-Tweed almost incessantly for four days, and the consequences are exceeding disastrous to agriculture, because the hay is unmade and the wheat is rotting in the fields.

LONDON, July 23.—A correspondent at Pesth telegraphs that the harvest in Hungary is an utter failure.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Exchange on London has advanced five per cent during the week, partly in consequence of the expectation of large corn exports.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

A Lost Ship Heard From—Mutiny of Her Crew and Murder.

Victoria B. C. Colonist.

It will be remembered by many in this community that several years ago the ship Alaska left Burrard Inlet, British Columbia, for China, with a cargo of lumber.
She arrived at her destination safely and was announced to receive a second cargo.
Time rolled on, and at the expiration of the usual number of days allowed for the passage from China, the good ship Alaska was announced as "due." She failed, however, to put in an appearance; but this was not considered at all extraordinary, as voyages from China vary in duration as much as to or from any other place. But the days she was overdue gradually crept into weeks and the weeks into months, and after she had been reported "missing" for a long time, the conclusion arrived at that she had doubtless sunked or had become the victim of foul play.

Years passed, and no word came of the rescue of any one who had been on board the ill fated ship, and at last the glimmer of hope which had sustained the hearts of the friends of the officers and crew died out.
The wife of the super-cargo of the vessel, who had been watching and waiting for many years succumbed to the efforts of the terrible suspense, and was quickly followed by her only child. The fact that during the time which would be necessary for the Alaska to make her passage to this port there had been no heavy winds nor storms was the main reason for the suspicions of foul play. Among those who entertained them was a gentleman who happened to meet a drunken sailor in a saloon of Japan. The old adage "in vino veritas" was again proven true, as will be subsequently seen, for the sailor began a disjointed narrative of mutiny and bloodshed. The gentleman kept the narrative in his memory, and, following up his statement that a few days out from Hong Kong, sailing under a light brezo off the coast of Japan, the crew mutinied, and without a moment's warning, threw overboard the second mate, who was the only officer on deck at the time.
Hearing a commotion, the captain and first officer rushed up, and were immediately seized and given to the sea. The supercargo, Mr. Thorndike, brother of the owner of the ship, who had $5,000 in coin on board, shared the same fate as the other officers, and the crew having secured the money, and everything of value that could be readily removed set fire to the vessel, and taking to the boats pulled for the coast of Japan. Having landed in safety they divided the spoils, cherishing the hope that every trace of their foul deed had been obliterated. But time, the certain avenger of crime, has proved that their hopes were fallacious, as, following closely on the confession referred to, the arrest of all but two of the criminals was effected, and they fell, in jail, probably, be called on to pay the penalty demanded by justice.

THE STORY OF A NEEDLE.

It Remains in a Human Body for over Thirty Years.

From the Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

About thirty years ago Mrs. Butler, mother-in-law of T. L. Montgomery, proprietor of the Rose City Baking Powder factory of this city. The lady was located in the left hip, and was so seized with with what she termed rheumatism at times very severe. Finally it became necessary to perform a surgical operation, which was done, part of hip joint being taken off.
Physicians held the opinion that the joint was affected, and that the operation would afford relief, but, contrary to their expectations, the lady did not improve very much. For years she had to use crutches, and at one time she was confined to her bed for over a year. This was while the family lived in Kentucky. After removing into this State, Mrs. Butler did not improve very much, and it was only by the use of crutches that she could walk any distance. Last Saturday morning a small needle of the old-fashioned "cambric" style, made its appearance, the point protruding from the diseased section. Small pieces of bone having from time to time worked out, the needle was thought to be another fragment of the diseased part. At first the needle was not noticed, but after being withdrawn that the truth was discovered. Mrs. Butler says that she remembers once when a girl riding horseback, she was stuck by a needle which happened to be in her dress. The needle was broken off just below the eye. The description answers to the one spoken of and that can be put to rest the doubt that it is the same. Since the needle made its appearance the lady is much improved and can now walk without the aid of crutches.

Russian Fancy in Matrimony.

Russian mamas are on the lookout, and know how to discern a "detritment" from a young Muscovite whose matrimonial intentions are sincere. A great many marriages seem made on the spur of the moment; for a Russian who thinks that the time has come for him to take a wife will put a turquoise ring into his pocket on Whitsunday and go into the summer park determined to bestow this trinket upon somebody before the day is over, but he has no idea when he sets out as to who the fortunate recipient shall be. In Russia Easter engagements are said to bring money; those at Ascension health; and those at Trinity a numerous progeny, and those at Whitsunday peace in the domestic circle; wherefore cautious folks who hold by superstitions have an inclination for the last.

Researches in Its Home—Animals Sent from New York for Experiments.

From the New York Times, 19th.

The reports that have been received in this city in regard to the possible repetition of last year's epidemic of yellow fever in the South have stimulated scientific men to increased exertions in the direction of solving some of the knotty problems that have been the object of the attention of the medical profession here and in Europe for many years. The question of contagion—whether whites or blacks are the more susceptible to its influences, whether recent arrivals in the belt of the fever's home are more liable to contract the disease than others who have become acclimated by the reason of several years of residence in the tropics, and the peculiar characteristics of the outbreaks in different conditions, with many other questions of great scientific and public interest, are now undergoing investigation by the National Quarantine Commission of the Board of Health. Drs. Chaillie and Sternberg have gone to Havana, the home of yellow fever, and there they propose to establish a complete physiological laboratory, in which their investigations of yellow fever can be conducted. They wrote to Professor Austin Flint, Jr., of Bellevue Medical College, asking his advice in regard to the animals necessary for their laboratory experiments. Professor Flint referred them to his assistant, Professor Charles F. Roberts, M. D., who is in charge of the extensive physiological laboratory of Bellevue Medical College, and he has prepared the outline of an animal which is to be sent to Havana to-day on the steamer Niagara.
Professor Roberts is also the author of the laboratory experiments. Professor Flint referred them to his assistant, Professor Charles F. Roberts, M. D., who is in charge of the extensive physiological laboratory of Bellevue Medical College, and he has prepared the

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1879.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Why didn't you go to Madison?
—Burglars should be barred out of their game.

—Mosquitoes lead a hum-drum life, though full of activity.
—The thermometer takes so much mercury that they throw it up again.

—The funeral of Mr. Nathaniel Case will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from his residence.

—The First Methodist churchfolk have a social this evening at the residence of Mr. Samuel Wright.

—Young Maher has so far recovered that his friends expect to remove him from the Myers house in a few days.

—Miss Myra A. Biles has gone to Milwaukee to visit friends, for a brief time. Miss Maud Hemming is also at the same place.

—Mr. S. Holdredge and family start to-morrow for Lake Geneva, where they will camp out for two or three weeks on Porter's landing.

—Mrs. James Blair is lying very low indeed with consumption, and there is little ground for hope that she will survive many days.

—Why should the spirit of Charles Atwood be sad? Last night a bran new little girl came to gladden his home. And he's more than happy.

—A good place to rusticate for a day is at Emerald Grove and Humphrey's villa, and front yard bower, with hammock and croquette, and with all—the genial family makes everything pleasant.

—William Turnesure and Al. Cole, two more of the boys arrested for indecent exposure of person, pleaded guilty before Justice Brooks yesterday, and paid $3 each and costs, which made each bill amount to about $38.

—The excursion train to Madison under the auspices of the Temple of Honor numbered six cars. They were well filled—that is the cars were full, not the members of the Temple. The Bower City Band accompanied the excursionists, and a jollier party never rolled out of the city on wheels.

—Next Friday evening there is to be an enjoyable lawn party at the residence of Mrs. F. H. Judd. The guards will be present in full dress uniform. The Bower City Band will also be there to give evening music. A large platform has been built for dancing, and Anderson's full orchestra will be on hand.

—Young Jeffries is getting along quite comfortably considering the injuries he received yesterday and the terrible shock to his nervous system. He passed rather a restless night, and his bruises are such that he can hardly move a muscle without pain, but his symptoms are nevertheless favorable, and he will probably recover in due time.

—Dayid Wilcox, of the Quincy (Ill.) Wagon, in company with his wife, arrived in the city last evening. "Dad," as he is familiarly known to his old friends here, returned to-day, but his wife will remain longer visiting her sister, Mrs. Ed. F. Welch, and her friends, of whom she has many, and by whom she will be gladly greeted.

—The musical treat at the Opera house next Monday evening, which will consist of "The Doctor of Alcantara," is one which none can afford to miss. If it was good before, it will be better this time, many minor improvements having been made. It was most heartily enjoyed by all who heard it before, and it will bear many repetitions. The price of admission has been placed at fifty cents, and there is no extra charge for reserved seats.

—Mr. Morrison while at work on the roof of Mr. Cunningham's new house in the First ward was prostrated with heat yesterday afternoon. He realized his condition enough to insure him against falling off, and placing his saw in a crevice between two boards, he braced his feet against it, and calling for help, sank back unconscious. Those near by took him down the ladder and in the course of an hour or so he was restored sufficiently to go home. He has recovered from the more serious effects of the heat.

—The Ancient Order of United Workmen will celebrate their anniversary at Lappin's hall next Thursday evening, and have arranged a pleasing programme, consisting of music by the Bower City Band, singing by the Box and Cox Quartet, and readings by O. H. Fether, Esq. Refreshments will be served. The gathering is to be limited to the members of the Order and their families, as this embraces a sufficiently large number to fill the hall well. The lodge here has, during the year in which it has been organized, shown wonderful growth and prosperity, and its success is permanent and its future bright.

THE INQUEST.

The Coroner's Jury Exonerate the Railroad Company from All Blame for the Death of Nathaniel Case.

An inquest was held before Justice Wickham on the body of Nathaniel Case, who was killed yesterday afternoon. The jury consisted of J. F. Drake, E. B. Heimstreet, M. W. Pierson, W. B. Britton, H. B. Walker, and James B. Hume.

E. M. Severance, the fireman on the engine which struck the wagon, was the first witness. He fixed the time of the accident at 1:21 p. m. The first he saw of it was a horse on the pilot. The engine stopped within eight or ten rods, then backed up the train, and wounded men were put in the baggage car. At the time of the accident he was ringing the bell.

Thomas Holland, the bridge tender at Monterey, testified that his station was about 600 feet from the place of the accident. He saw the wagon struck. It was a one-horse wagon and had on some shingles. He identified the deceased. He found him lying in a ditch about four or five feet from the track.

Dr. Carey testified as to the nature of the injuries which caused death. The right knee had a compound fracture, and was literally mashed. The left thigh was broken in the middle and the bones protruded. The right arm was broken below the elbow. The ribs of the right side were broken and the breast crushed in. There was a cut on the chin and through the lower lip. The lower jaw was also broken.

Thomas King, the engineer, testified that the train left Chicago at 9:30 o'clock a. m., and was due here at 1:30 o'clock p. m. It was on time and on reaching the stopping post near the bridge he gave a long whistle, as usual, and the fireman began ringing the bell. He saw the wagon and the men about two rods before the engine struck them. He had already commenced slackening speed and had the brakes on. He at once applied the brakes with full force but it was too late. The engine struck them. The pilot struck the horse and fore end of the wagon. The horse went on the west side of the track and the wagon and men on the east side. The bell was ringing at the time. The deceased went up against the side of the engine where the fireman sat. The train after striking them was stopped in three-quarters of its own length. It was then backed up and the conductor and baggage man got off and put the wounded persons into the baggage car, and they were brought to the depot. He said it would have been impossible to have stopped the train after he saw them and before he struck them.

Thomas Ball testified that he heard the whistle at the stopping post.

Michael Watson also testified to hearing the whistle.

The jury returned a verdict in which they found that "Nathaniel Case came to his death by being struck by a railroad engine of the Northwestern Railway Company, in the city of Janesville, while in the act of crossing the railroad track on the southeast side of Rock river near Milwaukee's stone quarry, on the 22d day of July, 1879, at 1:22 o'clock in the afternoon, and it being an unavoidable accident on the part of the engineer and employees of the train; that all precautions were taken to avoid the accident by the said employees of the company."

THE WOODCHUCK TRADE.

One of our jokers, who delights to laugh at the expense of some poor innocent soul, was called upon the other day by a country boy who had a woodchuck for sale. The boy had been sent from one to another of the ring of jokers until he reached this one. He told the boy, as an excuse to send him still further on his travels, that he wanted live woodchucks not dead ones, and as this was surely dead, he had better go to Mr. R., who was buying dead ones, but as for him he only bought live ones. He was paying twenty-five cents for live ones, but dead ones were no good to him. The boy departed, but the next morning as the joker came down to open the store he found the lad waiting for him. He was holding this time a live woodchuck by the tail, and confidently expecting to get his two shillings. The joker was perplexed at being taken at his own word, but wriggled out of the dilemma by telling the boy that one was no account. What he wanted was three or four. One was no earthly good. He sent the boy to some other member of the ring, and congratulated himself on being rid of the lad. He slept well for two nights but on the opening of the third day the woodchuck boy, like Basqueto's ghost, stood in his store door with five genuine woodchucks, all alive, and offering no ground for further pretext or excuse. The joker was caught in his own trap. He compromised with the lad by giving him $1 for the cage, and afterwards expended two shillings more in bringing a small boy to slip down to the river after dark and drown the whole menagerie. His attempts to keep the affair shady failed though. There hasn't been much shade about anything for the past few days, and the joke on the joker leaked out. He is in the trade no longer, and no woodchucks need apply.

—Mr. C. J. Bliss met with quite a loss last week, to the tune of one hundred dollars in currency, which was either lost or stolen from the vest pocket of his son, F. D. Bliss, which he had hung in a tobacco shed on a farm some miles west of here, while he was setting up a champion reaper. Young Bliss came home that night, leaving his vest still hanging in the shed, and did not return till the next morning, Thursday, when he found his money was missing. A warrant was issued, and four Germans arrested, who were working on the piece. They were brought before Justice Thorpe on suspicion of taking the money, but there was no evidence that they knew anything of the money. The loss is hard to bear, but the lesson it inculcates should not be without profit. The time is too late to throw that amount of money around loose in a vest pocket; but as the money had been carried so several days, there was no evidence but that it was lost prior to the time of hanging the vest in the shed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE BOSS

PUMP

OF THE WORLD.

The L. J. Russell Patent Non-Freezing Double Acting Force Pump

Is one of the latest and greatest wonders of the age. It is more simple than any other pump in use, and more powerful than any other pump in fact they act as a siphon, and suck the water out of the pipe back into the bottom of the well. It will suck water out of a well or barrel, and if water enough could be held to the nozzle, it would fill the well or cistern. If you will freeze the water in the well or cistern, put one of these pumps in a well thirty feet deep and one man can force water (a solid stream) through pipes as cold as the well water, and a mile in distance. A great many people, as soon as they get these pumps and a short piece of hose, stop their hands, and by getting a pump that costs but ten dollars, they save many times from ten to twenty times what the pump costs in insurance every year, and then they save this expenditure every winter, and many times—"The old pump will freeze up with it. Rip, tear, salt, hot water, let the pump handle, break that ice, hot water, split the packing, and then get a pump man to fix it—and how they fix it, if you are good?"
